Volunteer for the Engineering Expo
Be an ambassador.
There is no better way to connect with potential employers than to volunteer for industry promoting events. Luckily the College of Engineering offers opportunities for volunteering such as being a student ambassador for the upcoming Engineering Career Expo.
The Engineering Career Expo is designed to allow students to interact with companies and as a student ambassador one gets the chance to host, greet, run errands and assist recruiters. This is a great opportunity to get to know and build relations with the people that work at the companies you’re interested in. It also gives you the leg up on what recruiters look for in potential employees and looks great on resumes.
The Expo is on Feb 19th and offers four different time slots for volunteering. To sign-up go to: https://msu-csm.symplicity.com/events/
And click on the Engineering Expo Student Ambassador sign-up registration link. There really is no better way to become familiar with a company or find potential employers.

Tip of the Week
Need to follow up with companies after the Career Fair?
The Direct Approach: A tip to help you earn an interview
Call the employer, remind them where you met, ask if they have any summer co-op or internship opportunities, see when they would be available to discuss options for you. If you are going to be in their area, mention it and suggest arranging an interview. If they can’t help you, ask for names of other contacts who may be hiring.
