

The Spartan Field Guide to

TwitterJobSearch beta
the twitter job search engine

What is Twitter JobSearch?

JobSearch is an engine that searches thousands of job openings posted as tweets on Twitter.

Why Use Twitter JobSearch?

Streamline Your Job Search

Search over 500,000 job postings in one place.

Strategize and Save Time

Follow the tweets of pages that post positions in your interest field... you can view all new job postings in one place on your Twitter homepage. Check daily as part of your job search routine.

Automate

Configure your account to send you updates when new positions are posted.

Get With the Times

Connect with decision makers... a growing number of companies now use social networking sites for recruiting fresh talent.

How to Use Twitter JobSearch

-  Navigate to www.twitterjobsearch.com.
-  Decide what type of position you are looking for. You may search by keywords such as location, position type, or company.
-  Refine your search based on salary, location, type, job title, etc.
-  If you find a posting that interests you, follow the link to the original posting. Sometimes you will be led to a secondary job search or staffing website. In this case, you may have to investigate the company and job title of the opening. Search for the opening on the company's website and apply for the position there.
