Looking for a summer internship position? Sign in to Handshake for current positions at https://msu.joinhandshake.com/

You didn't get the grades you anticipated? Here are some guidelines for you to reflect on.

- Read the syllabus carefully to understand the course content.
- Focus your attention on the projects that are worth the most points.
- Review the graded work after you get it back and go through your mistakes.
- Get feedback from your instructor on how to improve your grade, so you are better prepared for your next exam.
- Study at least two to three hours outside of class for each hour in class.

We want to hear from you! Share your professional experiences with CoRe, summer internship plans, study skills, time management tips and tricks. Email us at core@egr.msu.edu and you could be featured in the upcoming CoRe newsletter!

Engineering Expo
Feb 20 and 22 in EB
When is a Career Fair not a Career Fair? When it’s an Expo! Participate in an interactive, information sharing event and gain knowledge of companies, interact with alumni, network with professional engineers, and get the ‘insider’ information lacking in the regular career fair model. If you are looking for an internship or co-op, there are tons of opportunities! List of employers attending: https://msu.joinhandshake.com/career_fairs/3475/student_preview

CoRe students Lazerick Hill, Gabriella Kelsch Bledsoe, and Sabas Gutierrez were honored with Destaco, Delphi, and Marathon Showcase of Stars Scholarships respectively, on Jan 24 at the Dean’s Showcase of Stars Breakfast. The event encourages and supports STEM students at MSU. Congratulations, proud Spartans! Go Green!

Let’s welcome the new CoRe Director, Timothy Hinds!

Congratulations to the new CoRe Director, Mr. Timothy Hinds! Mr. Hinds began in his new position on Jan 1, 2018. He has served as CoRe’s academic director since 2007.
